GOLDEN RAMS LOSE

The balance of the team giving them yeoman support.

Up until the last four minutes of play the Rams were leading by the slim score of 7 to 6. Pushed back into their own defense line territory, the Rams were on their fourth down, and had to do something drastic to get out of the situation of having another touchdown tallied by Panama.

The Ram's quarterback after huddle consideration decided that a shovel pass over the line would do the trick, so he called the play, but it proved a defeat one, for it was intercepted, and later resulting a touchdown and an additional 7 point score for the home team.

The Panama team was a heavier and had more experienced players in its formation, but at that, the Rams pressed them to the limit of their power, before they admitted their defeat.

The Belle Glade boys report a most hospitable reception and hospitality on the part of the Panama officials, team and citizens who were good sportsmen and gave them good cheers on outstanding plays.

Enroute home, Coach Cooke, where he gave the Golden Rams players opportunity to see the game between the Florida University Gators and Mississippi, which was won by the latter. The boys enjoyed the game to the limit.

Coach Cooke has been whipping the boys in practice this week getting them in shape for the big game against the conference champion Vero Beach team at their field this Friday night. He feels confident that the Rams will give a good account of themselves in this contest if they play anything like the football they staged at Panama.

The Glades will send the usual large gang of rooters to witness this game.

FAREWELL SERVICES

organist of the church, Mrs. Baker, softly played a series of hymns which had been favorites with the deceased, and during the services the choir sang, "In the Garden of Prayer" and John Dunlany sang "End of a Perfect Day."

The pastor in his impressive address brought religious comfort to the family, and also paid a beautiful tribute to the man who had been suddenly stricken from the activities of life. Rev. Howe said, "Mr. Stuckey was a home loving man, an industrious man, both for himself and his home community, and he did not cur his personal emotions on the outside. His business relations were such that he was as well known in Washington, Tallahassee, West Palm Beach, Orlando Atlanta and Miami, as he was in his own home town."

That in his going the family, community and industry would miss an outstanding man." Words fail to express the beauty and lavishness of the floral remembrances which came in from all portions of the country, from friends and business associates. These spoke the universal respect in which the deceased had been held in his life.

From the church to Woodland Cemetery, by Belle Glade, the cortege passed the land and industrial holdings which the deceased had so loved over a period of long years, but on this trip no stop was made for him to inspect, for the soul and life of the owner had passed from his earthly tabernacle and was enroute for final commitment to mother earth.

The ritual of the Masonic Lodge was said at the grave side by Illustrious Brother Joe Everglades, of Belle Glade, the Everglades Lodge, No. 211, of Panama, of which the deceased was a Past Worships Master.

The pall bearers were: John Dunlany, Terry Sellers, Jesse Elliott, E. L. Pope, Harold Roster, and Orlaf Boe.

Honorary pall bearers were six past Worships Masters of Everglades Masonic lodge, E. G. Kilpatrick, of Sanford, John Thompson, J. G. Weeks, H. L. Speer, Ellsworth Kent and Dane Elliott, E. L. Pope, Harold Roster, members of the lodge in 25 years, there has been three deaths in the chain, namely Jack Barrett, John Harrington and Lemmie Stuckey.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

The Kissimmee river valley is pouring in a heavy volume of water into the big lake, but even then, the lake stands around the 15 foot level, which is not considered threatening. When the 21 foot level of 1947 is taken into consideration. Assistant County Agent H. L. Speer, as a result of his survey admits that the Glades farmers have been hard hit, but is not overly pessimistic over the outcome of the season. Some farmers lost beans and corn, but most of this acreage has already been replanted and planting will continue to increase over the next two weeks, if waters do not prevent.

Hopes are entertained that the East coast farmers will not again think the Glades out of the early fall bean picture, and do heavy planting, and thus ruin the market as was the case last year. Some of the St. Louis growers have been down in the Glades to look over the crop possibilities, and to see whether it was wise to get in for a fall crop of beans, as they did last year, resulting in their hitting a jackpot.

Prof. Speer, on his monthly trip over to Jupiter, for services at Pennock dairy ranch reports that there are high water over in some sections, but the quick drainage into the creek and the Loxahatchee river will soon remove the surplus waters. Canals are however running full capacity. Storm loss was small in that region, practically no property damage.

A local seed firm manager states that the demand for bean seed has been so heavy, that supplies on hand would not fill more than 50 percent of the orders he could book.

Mrs. Frank Thompson, formerly secretary in the Belle Glade office of the Agricultural Extension Bureau is now residing there in secretarial work. Mr. Thompson, who is in the sanitarium, is reported as showing improvement in his condition.

Report now comes that high waters are prevailing in Highlands Glades and Hendry counties, higher than existed last year, and that losses are reaching into staggering figures. The rich farming lands around the lake and Kissimmee river, south east of Sebring are hard hit. Some cattle losses have been reported in both Glades and Hendry county. The small village of Loretto, is reported completely inundated, while waters from the big drainage ditch have completely covered LaBelle.

Season Football Tickets Now On Sale For Home Games

According to Prof. H. O. Hobson, season football tickets for all home games went on sale this week and they may be purchased from any member of the school Pep Club or at Murphy's Pharmacy. By buying a season ticket the holder gets to see six games for the price of five and it gives the athletic association a boost.

These tickets will be good for the first home game which will be played at Memorial Field on Friday night, November 8th, when the Fernandina eleven will come here to meet the local Rams.

The town of Fernandina which is located just north of Jacksonville, is about the size of Belle Glade or a little larger and it should produce a pretty good team. Hopes are that a good game will be witnessed during this first home game.

The Rams travel to Vero Beach tonight where they will be looking for revenge this year, as they were beaten by a score of 12 to 7 last year.

Guest Speaker At The Baptist Church, Sunday

Owing to the absence of Rev. I. E. Enlow, who has gone to Eugene, Kentucky, to attend the wedding of his son, Eugene, the pulpit of the First Baptist Church will be filled the coming Sunday, by Dr. Leon Gambress, of Lakeland, head of the Florida Baptist Institute. Dr. Gambress is a leader in church affairs and those who may attend are promised a treat in his discourses.

Cattle Malady Brings Top Men From Government Here

The past week, Dr. R. V. Allen and Ralph Kidder, of the Everglades Experiment Station, and other officials of the animal husbandry departments of the Federal and State groups, who came to investigate a new cattle disease which has been recently discovered in the Glades known as an X malady.

This group was composed of Dr. A. M. Lee, veterinarian, Dr. A. G. Johnson, plant pathologist, and W. G. Robinson, chemist, all of the U. S. Department of Agriculture; Dr. W. J. Gibson, head of the animal department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn; and Dr. A. L. Shealy and Chas. F. Simpson, of the University of Florida.

This new malady was first heard of in New York in 1939 and has since been reported from 32 other states including Florida. The malady is given the scientific name of Hyperkeraatosis, and is considered a serious menace to the now growing Florida cattle business, and is spreading. The disease primarily attacks young cattle but old cattle are also susceptible, both beef and dairy types. In herds where it occurs it causes around 80 per cent fatal results.

Cattle and chemical experts are of the opinion that the disease is not due to nutrition but more likely a chemical deficiency. Watery eyes, cracks, and skin sloughing off are symptoms.

The malady uncovered here was found in a steer and heifer of the Brahma strain, and has been under observation. This visiting group of scientists are here to make a thorough study of the disease with hopes of solving the riddle.

Joseph Ferris, Jr., to Leave Employment With Sugar Co.

Joseph Ferris, Jr., vice-president and public relations officer with the United States Sugar Corporation at Clewiston, the past week, presented his resignation to be effective October 15th. Ferris for a number of years was the company's Washington representative, and two years took over the executive management at Clewiston.

Ferris is a member of the National Sugar Advisory Committee, the first Florida man to hold such membership, and it is understood that he is to return to Washington to take up public relations work with that committee.

Ferris was the man who made contact and negotiations which brought many field workers from the West Indies to work on the sugar company's plantations and for other farm work in the Glades area.

Ferris is leaving his sugar company relations position in the most friendly relations with the company and company employees. As he knows, Washington like a book, he will be able to adapt himself with ease in his new home.

Driving License Rush

Junius Harris, who is in charge of the issuance of 1948-49 drivers licenses for the Belle Glade area, reports that as this was the last week in which to secure such permits, long queues of seekers have appeared at his office daily, but the number is short of those of the same period in 1947.

Up to Wednesday morning in excess of 2,000 permits had been issued, and a like record is reported from the Pahokee office.

Failure to secure a license prior to the closing date this Friday night, brings the penalty, that such belated seekers will need to take driver license examinations as conducted by the State Highway Police regulations.

Driving on the wrong side of the road, this car's operator claimed that his steering wheel went bad. Cars are thoroughly inspected before leaving the factory and seldom break down without warning. But there are many old cars in use and the National Conservation Bureau advises periodic examination to overcome this hazard. Loose play or shimmy in either the front wheels or the steering wheel is a warning of danger.

South Bay Water Pipe Line Laying About Completed

The Boyce Company of Clearwater is working toward the completion of the South Bay Water System which would have soon been finished had not the surface of flooding of the townsite by heavy rainfall accompanying the recent hurricane slowed up the operation.

It has been found impossible to continue laying the pipe in machine dug ditches, but work is going forward by hand labor and the work is being pushed as rapidly as possible under the handicap.

Storm Plays Havoc In And Around South Bay

Considerable damage resulted from the hurricane in the South Bay vicinity. Crops, of course, are a total loss and replanting on high land is going forward. Fruit trees, ornamentals of all kinds both trees and shrubbery were badly beaten and uprooted by the wind.

Some little property damage has also resulted. Some roofs are being replaced, others need patching. A few windows were casualties of the storm and almost every housewife is busy drying up bedding, rugs, clothing and furniture which became wet either from leaky roofs, blown in windows or rain driving through the weatherboarding. Lawns are flooded, particularly in the area below the locks, and streets are being repaired with rock fills where necessary.

School Officials Inspect Building At South Bay

The South Bay School opened Monday for the first time since the hurricane, operating under difficulties. They were unable to reopen last week due to lack of electric power which operates the water system and plumbing in the school.

Superintendent Howell Watkins and building maintenance men were out inspecting some minor damages to the roof and foundation of the school building and flooded conditions of the school grounds.

No outdoor physical education periods are possible until flood waters can be drawn off the playgrounds, Principal Edwin C. Kennedy stated Monday.

Howard Payne, band instructor, has completed his testing for membership in the band and will be ready in the near future for the organization of the South Bay School Band. The band building was also inspected by the school officials with reference to needed repairs to make it usable for band and piano pupils. It was found that the roof was in need of repair and also some new foundation.

Room teachers are now overhauling the make-up of Red Cross boxes to be sent overseas in each of the various home rooms.
